

Jury In Knapp Case Hears Charge and Retires

"A Juror May Not Be Chivalrous at the Expense of Violating His Oath," Judge Callaghan tells the Jury, Which Retired at 12:51 to Consider the Evidence.

Courthouse, Albany, May 8 (P.)—The Supreme Court Justice Stephen Callaghan, presiding at the trial of Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, former secretary of state, charged with grand larceny in connection with her administration of the 1925 state census, began his charge to the jury a few minutes after 12 o'clock today.

Justice Callaghan began by complimenting counsel for both sides on the fairness with which they conducted the trial.

He stressed the responsibility resting upon the jurors. After tracing the duties of jurors, he touched upon the question of the defendant's sex.

He said: "The fact that the defendant is a woman has nothing to do with the question at issue. A juror may not be chivalrous at the expense of violating his oath as a juror or to dodge the responsibility which he has assumed. The fact that the defendant held one of the highest offices in this state must not be considered by you and it must not affect your verdict. The defendant is entitled to no such consideration by you. She realizes that women have in recent years taken their place alongside of men in almost every field of endeavor. They are eligible to vote and for appointment of election to any office of public trust or confidence. They cannot share the privileges extended to them and be relieved of the responsibility."

After defining the term "larceny," the judge outlined the authority for the state census and dwelt briefly on the indictment upon which Mrs. Knapp is being tried, which charges her with the theft of a state pay check for $2,875.96 drawn to the order of C. B. Knapp, conceded to be Mrs. Knapp's stepdaughter, Clara Blanche Knapp.

Judge Callaghan concluded his charge and the jury retired at 12:51 p. m.

Patrick C. Dugan, of counsel for Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, former secretary of state, began summation up at 2:02 a. m.

Supreme Court Justice Stephen Callaghan opened court with a warning that no demonstration during the summation would be tolerated.

Mr. Dugan told the jury that this is an "extraordinary case." First he said, it was prosecuted by "extraordinary able counsel." Referring to George Z. Medalie, chief prosecuting officer, he said: "Mr. Medalie of New York city is the pinnacle of his profession."

"Another extraordinary feature of the case," Mr. Dugan said, "is that here is a woman 53 years old, highly respected, on trial charged with the commission of grand larceny."

"You must determine whether she is to pass through this ordeal triumphant, or be consigned to a state prison."

Mr. Medalie immediately objected on the ground that the jury does not decide whether the defendant is to go to state prison, but the judge said: "The jury has nothing to do with that."

"That is true," Mr. Dugan said, "but I wanted them to know that the defendant is on trial for a state prison offense." He then continued his summation.

He explained at length the position of the jury in a criminal trial as an independent branch of the court to deal with the finding of facts, with a responsibility that "cannot be shifted to the shoulders of anyone else."

Next he treated at length of the jury's duty in case there is any reasonable doubt as to the guilt of the defendant.

Mr. Dugan stressed the law that establishes a presumption of innocence of the defendant until proven guilty.

"No one becomes suddenly evil," counsel declared, explaining why character witnesses had been asked to testify to Mrs. Knapp's good character. He reviewed the testimony of these witnesses, pointing out that the courts have held such evidence may be held to create a reasonable doubt of guilt even against strong evidence.

"When you have witnesses such as these testifying to the previous good character of the defendant, it amounts to much," he told the jury.

Mr. Dugan pointed to the wall chart prepared by the prosecution, showing census payments to members of Mrs. Knapp's family. He said the judge had charged the jury that these figures could be received only for the purpose of showing a "plan that Mr. Medalie wanted you to understand."

Turning specifically to the check for $2,875.96 in favor of Mrs. Knapp's stepdaughter, Clara Blanche Knapp, which is made the basis for the present charge of grand larceny, Mr. Dugan asked: "Was there any sneak work about this check? Was there anything under cover about any of these checks? Everything was open and plain. There was no effort to hide or conceal, unless it might be the records, about which

PEASANTS' MARCH ON BUCHAREST CONTINUES

Bucharest, Rumania, May 8 (AP)—The whole of Transylvania today resembled an armed camp as 5,000 peasants marched on the capital to demand from the regency a change of government.

There was no doubt that the regency and cabinet were disturbed by the manifestation although statements of the government and other sources differed greatly as to the importance and volume of the peasants' march.

Army airplanes ready to suppress a revolt with bombs hovered overhead as the peasants marched. Government cavalry brought up the front and rear of the marching horde. Perfect order prevailed when the peasants reached Sibiu and the cavalry escort was under instructions not to impede the march unless the peasants tried to incite the countryside.

After informing the peasant leader, Julio Maniu, that they would not ask the resignation of the Bratianu government, the regents summoned Premier Vintila Bratianu and J. G. Duca, minister of interior. With them they discussed what reply would be made to the demands of the peasants.

"COP HATER" YOUTHFUL CRIMINAL SHOT POLICEMAN.

Chicago, May 8 (AP)—The slaying of Policeman Arthur Esau—shot dead without warning when he walked unaware into a drugstore holdup April 27—appeared solved today.

Two youths, barely 20, calmly discussed the shooting following their arrest last night. They embellished their story with accounts of more than a score of robberies committed during the past two months—thefts of diamonds and silks which they lavished upon two girls they had met in a dance hall.

Charles Walz said he had been a "cop hater" since a policeman shot and killed his brother, William, two years ago, William, according to the story, was defending loot Charles had stolen when cornered and slain by the officer.

Walz, police said, admitted firing the shots that killed Esau. His companion was Anthony Greco who also is held.

FRENCH FLYERS SEEK NEW DURATION RECORD.

Le Gouget, France, May 8 (AP)—Two French flyers, Ludovic and Paul Arrachart, hopped off at 8:30 a. m. today in an attempt to beat the world duration flight record held by Eddie Stinson and George W. Haldeman. The record is 33 hours, 36 minutes and 26 seconds.

They flew a Breguet monoplane with a 600 horse power Renault motor. They carried approximately 1,100 gallons of gasoline. The gasoline is distributed in two small reservoirs and one large one in the plane. The machine is specially designed for distance flights and the fliers expect it to remain in the air for 50 hours. It is known as the "Breguet 4000 lire type."

Clay Road Folks Protest Closing

Would be Greatly Inconvenienced and Injured if Road Near Port Ewen Station Were Closed in Order to Eliminate Grade Crossing.

A public hearing was held this morning at 11:20 o'clock in the supervisors' rooms at the court house in the matter of the elimination of the grade crossing at Port Ewen on the road known as the Clay road about 1,300 feet south of the Port Ewen station. The proposed plan is to close the road to public traffic and build a substitute highway to the east of and parallel to the West Shore Railroad tracks from a point where the Clay road now crosses the railroad at grade to the present Port Ewen station crossing. The plan is to close the Clay road crossing entirely.

Opposition to the plan was presented by residents who reside on the Clay road both to the east and west of the crossing. It would be necessary if the crossing was eliminated for residents living on the Clay road and with lands on both sides of the railroad to travel from the Clay road crossing out to the present Port Ewen station crossing and then back on the opposite side of the tracks to their lands.

At present there is a road over the railroad property on the west side of the railroad past the freight house and coal pockets which is used by most of the traffic to and from the Clay road crossing. This, however, is not the public highway, but runs over the railroad property. The west end of the Clay road runs some distance upon the side of the mountain and connects with the New Salem road to the west of the station road.

At present, E. McKenzie appeared for the town board of the town of Esopus. Amos Van Euten appeared for the railroad.

The hearing was held before Mr. W. Williams, assistant engineer representing the public service commission. Maps showing the present route were shown an objection was made thereto by Mr. McKenzie who stated the maps did not show the Clay road to the west of the railroad but showed the road over the private lands of the railroad.

Sylvanus Van Aken was sworn. He was familiar with the situation as he testified he resided some 200 feet from the crossing to the west. The elimination of the road as it now is would cause him inconvenience in reaching his lands which lay to the east of the railroad. Under the proposed plans some three residents to the west and five to the east would be compelled to traverse the new road as indicated.

The new road would parallel the railroad from the Clay road crossing on the east over the Marino lands to the main station crossing. This would compel property owners having lands on both sides of the railroad to traverse a distance of 1,300 feet to the present station crossing and back to their lands. Plans as indicated would cause the new road to run wholly over the Marino lands, formerly known as the Conn farm.

Mr. Van Aken testified there was a hill to the south and west of the Clay road crossing which obstructed view in that direction. There are also buildings and sidings along the railroad to the north as one approaches from the west. On the east there are sidings to the north which obstruct the view when cars are on the siding. The crossing is protected by a bell. Mr. Van Aken said he knew of an accident at the crossing. The average vehicular traffic over the Clay road crossing five days he said was about four or five, but pedestrians used it, and during the harvest season the farmers used it frequently in getting to and from lands on opposite sides of the railroad.

H. E. McKenzie asked what would happen to the new road from the Clay road crossing north to the station crossing if and when the station crossing was eliminated by an over head crossing. If this was done, he said he understood that the overpass would have to start some 1,200 feet east of the station crossing and the people from the Clay road would have to traverse that additional distance to get on the overpass. This would mean the unloading of that additional road over the Marino lands, unless a ramp was made along the railroad to give access to the overpass.

The hearing was adjourned subject to the call of the commission.

The "Y" building constantly used by different organizations in the community.

The following appeal by Mr. Ramsey to all Y. M. C. A. friends in Kingston was released last evening:

Kingston, N. Y., May 7, 1928.
Dear Friends:

During the past year there has come to the Y. M. C. A. a stream of youth seeking health, wholesome recreation, training for efficiency and inspiration for finer Christian living. Instead of wasting their time, these youth spend it in activities which make them better men for a better community and a better world.

At Camp Glenview there is another place of inspiration where boys and young men learn to know the beauty of nature and the glory of God and come away to carry these memories forever in their hearts.

For the benevolent spirited people of Kingston the "Y" has a deep significance, for in it we join hands in a common enterprise whose value to our community life can not be estimated. Its program reaches out to young men and boys who need its help, without regard to class or creed. A donation to the "Y" is, therefore, an investment in the boy life of Kingston that pays the highest dividends.

One hundred and fifty of Kingston's business and professional men will conduct the campaign for the funds necessary to carry on the "Y." May 9th to 17th. What the "Y" will be able to do another year, will be determined by the gifts that are made. The demands on the Association are greater than ever, but the Board of Directors can only spend the money that the citizenship of Kingston gives.

Thanking you for the cheerful and liberal response we feel sure you will be glad to give, and assuring you that every dollar you invest in our work for boys and young men will be used in the most careful way possible.

Sincerely yours,
CHARLES RAMSEY,
President.

The formal opening of the campaign will be tomorrow evening, May 9, at 8:15, at a dinner in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

Reformed Church Synod Tercentenary Celebration

Annual Meeting of Ecclesiastical Body Supplemented by Celebration of 300th Anniversary of Founding of Denomination in America. Marked by Address by Dr. Demarest.

Synod Reports Show Growth of Reformed Church

Membership in Particular Synod of New York Now 10,330, Gain of 4,247 in Past Year—Means of Increased Efficiency Suggested to General Synod.

Growth of the Reformed Dutch Church in the Particular Synod of New York was embodied in a report on the state of religion made to Synod at its session today.

The Rev. Minster Stegenga of Walden, retiring president, reported that the families represented in the Particular Synod was 21,184, the number of members added during the past year was 4,247, making a total membership of 10,330. Contributions to benevolences amounted to $251,154; congregational contributions totaled $1,245,971, and the Sunday school enrollment was 30,592. A large majority of churches have paid their quota to the Pension Fund of $1,000,000, now completed.

During the previous ten years however, the gain was less than the gain of the past year, and while Sunday school enrollment had fallen off in that period, the past year's enrollment had more than made it up.

In discussing the dropping of names from membership roll it was stated that one church had dropped 200 names without accounting for them.

Dr. Doeve of the First Dutch Church of Kingston stated that last year the church added 61 new members and the previous year 49, but in going over the roll he had dropped 123 names which should have been dropped, through death in previous years.

Other ministers reported similarly in regard to revised lists.

Drop for Three Reasons.

General discussion followed as to what should be done with absentee members. A Brooklyn pastor stated that a woman member had absented herself for seven years, then applied for a certificate of dismissal, but stating she had had no church relations whatever during that time. The consistory had refused to grant the certificate.

Dr. Doeve stated that persons who removed from the community might be placed on the absence list, but unless disciplined, such person was entitled to a certificate. Stated Clerk Hageman read the constitutional provisions that members may be dropped from the roll only for death, dismissal or discipline.

Church Has Big Opportunity.

The morning session opened with devotional exercises which were followed by the annual Synodical sermon by the Rev. Mr. Stegenga, who took his text from Joshua. "Ye had not gone this way before."

He said in part:

The Israelites faced conditions much the same as we as a church face today. We look back over the past but we also look forward over a way we have not gone before. In the early days, despite oppression and persecution, we find the Reformed Church which could not have survived except for the help of God. It is an incomplete work we have performed but there is much yet to do, and as we start upon the untrodden way our hope must be in God.

We find things which discourage us but there are also things that encourage us. We can be sure of one thing, that God is, and that as His life touches the lives of men, we are different.

We are living in a fast changing age and the world of the next 25 years will have more changes than we have seen in the past 25 years, but the uncertainties make us more firm in the certainties. We must make plans just as the children of Israel did. We must be Christian statesmen and accurate marksmen. With all the uncertainties we must remember there are possibilities.

Standing on the threshold of the next 300 years, we must know our starting point. The chief aim of the church is to give the gospel to the world. We must serve the heathen and souls and bodies of people as to bring them nearer God. The church universal must realize we cannot go away from the old ark. The God who has guided us in the past will guide us in the future.

Statistical Reports.

There was some discussion in regard to what should be included in statistical reports. Mr. Doeve called attention to the fact that General Synod required certain things. Several ministers favored eliminating unnecessary detail in compiling the report to General Synod. Stated Clerk Hageman said each Classis covered itself as to what was furnished out.

Believe Sun Laid Eggs

There are scores of beliefs regarding man's origin. The queerest is that of the ancient Peruvians, who believed that the sun came down, laid two eggs, and from those the first human beings came.

Announces A New Record for stock cars under $1400

Better than a mile a minute
for 5000 miles

The Dictator $1195 to $1395

F. O. B. FACTORY

BY traveling 5,000 miles in 4,751 consecutive minutes, the Studebaker Dictator has established a record unequalled by any stock car under $1400—comparable to the existing world record of 5,000 miles in 4,559 minutes made by the Studebaker Commander last fall.

And not one, but two Dictator Roadsters, fully equipped, each traveled 5,000 miles in less than that number of minutes. The run was made under the supervision of the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association. Before and after the run, the cars were checked by the Technical Committee and were pronounced strictly stock models.

CLAIMS vs. FACTS

Automobile advertising is full of extravagant claims of performance. But Studebaker offers you definite FACTS supported by the certificate of the highest motoring authority. Under A. A. A. supervision The Commander has made a record never approached by any other car on earth (25,000 miles in less than 23,000 minutes). The Erskine and The Dictator have made records unequalled by any other stock cars at or near their prices.

The high quality of materials, the precision workmanship, the rigid inspections and the engineering genius in the Studebaker Dictator are proved not only by its ability to travel 5,000 miles in less than 4,800 consecutive minutes, but also by the fact that any Dictator can be driven 40 miles per hour as soon as it leaves the assembly line at the factory. The engine and chassis dynamometer tests which Studebaker gives The Dictator are an exclusive Studebaker practice in cars of this price class.

We invite you to inspect The New Dictator which is offered in 10 body models at $1195 to $1395 f.o.b. factory. Backed by Studebaker's 76-year reputation for quality and value, The Dictator offers champion performance at a low One-Price price.

NIAGARA FALLS PEOPLE TO PROTEST AGAINST PATROLS

Niagara Falls, N. Y., May 8 (AP).—Plans were under way today to protest to Washington against patrolling of Niagara frontier roads by armed and disguised federal officers enforcing the prohibition law, which led to the shooting and probably fatal wounding of J. D. Hanson, secretary of the Niagara Falls Lodge of Elks, in his automobile Sunday. It is likely that the protest will be carried to the capital by a delegation of prominent citizens.

At a meeting of Elks last night a committee of 20, including all the members of the city council, was appointed to arrange for a mass meeting of citizens, to aid the district attorney in the gathering of evidence, engage extra counsel to prosecute the two coast guardsmen for whom warrants have been issued as the result of the shooting, and to make arrangements for the presentation of protests to federal authorities. The committee decided to hold a mass meeting before May 17.

ELKS TO HOLD DANCE WEDNESDAY, MAY 16

The hall of the Elks' lodge will be appropriately decorated for the occasion. Refreshments will be served, and a setting that will resemble a ballroom and the usual amusement furnished as such will be put on by New York talent. The committee of arrangement has procured three vaudeville acts to entertain those who attend. It is forecast that the attendance will be the largest to enjoy a program at the Elks' Club in some time.

Judge Believed In Full Publicity

Judge Betts Insisted That Testimony Be Given So That All Might Hear It. After Mr. Had Been Deceived by New York Lawyer Seeking Secrecy.

During twelve of the fourteen years in which the late Judge James A. Betts of this city was a justice of the Supreme court, he was engaged in active trial work at the trial and special terms of the Supreme court held in the Third judicial district. He was an indefatigable worker and accomplished a vast amount of work.

Judge Betts was a firm believer in publicity and promptly took measures to prevent attorneys from hiding anything from the public which he thought the public ought to know.

During the early days of his work on the bench, a divorce case was brought before him at a special term of the Supreme court in which it was disclosed that both parties resided in New York city but the venue was laid in Ulster county because one of the parties claimed legal residence here by reason of having occupied property owned here for the period required to obtain legal residence in the county. The attorney for the plaintiff resided in New York city and explained that it was desirable that the case attract as little attention as possible because of the effect which publicity would have on the health of various parties. The defendant did not appear.

Had Deceived the Judge
About three months later, another New York lawyer came into special term with an application to open the default which had been taken in the divorce suit, and brought affidavits and witnesses to show that the summons and complaint never had been served on the defendant, who only learned of the proceedings a few days previously, and the defendant, instead of the plaintiff, was entitled to a divorce. Judge Betts conducted an examination which resulted in opening the default and later in granting a divorce to the defendant.

It was the custom at that time for many New York city residents who desired to obtain a divorce quietly to obtain a legal residence in Ulster county and have the cases tried in Ulster county in the belief that the parties would escape the publicity which would be had in New York if the cases were tried there, either through the circumstances of the case or the prominence of the parties.

Frequently attorneys from other counties in the Third judicial district would bring their divorce cases to trial in Ulster county for the purpose of avoiding publicity because their clients were wealthy and prominent. Profited By His Experience.
After the experience mentioned, however, Judge Betts was suspicious of cases where secrecy was desired and insisted upon all cases being tried publicly. It was only a short time after he had learned of the deception practiced upon him in the first secrecy case that another New York lawyer came into court just before special term adjourned and in a low voice announced to Judge Betts that there was no appearance on the part of the defendant in the divorce case he was bringing to trial and that he had brought the action to Ulster county to escape the publicity which it would get in New York on account of the prominence of the parties and the sensational testimony. The lawyer expressed the hope that the judge would exclude newspaper reporters from the room and also all other persons not directly interested.

"You have come to a good place to escape publicity," said Judge Betts. "There are at least three newspaper reporters here in court and I am sure they are alert for news to send to their New York papers. I will hear the case and will ask that the table reserved for reporters be cleared so that they may be able to work close and to hear all the testimony. If there is anything wrong about the case, as there was in a recent case where secrecy was sought, the publication of the facts in the New York papers will bring it to light and the court will not be deceived."

"Speak Up," said the Judge.
The lawyer was anxious to withdraw the case from hearing then, but the plaintiff already had been sworn and Judge Betts directed that the trial proceed. "You cannot fool with the court in this way," he said. And Judge Betts was particular that the names of the parties be spelled carefully so that no error might be made. Witnesses who tried to talk in a whisper that only the judge and stenographer could hear were reminded to "Speak up," and under judicial direction, they did.

At another time a lawyer from New York discovered, when the sensational divorce case he was trying was half over, that a group of reporters were taking notes and he intimated strongly that "something will happen" if any mention of the case appeared in the New York city newspapers.

"That is a matter I cannot control," said Judge Betts. "but I don't allow lawyers to make threats of that kind in this court. If you are seeking to cover up a fraud, you have come to the wrong place, and I am sure the newspapers will help the court in trying to prevent any fraud here."

Decided Another Time.
One other time Judge Betts was deceived. An elderly woman had applied to have the committee of her person and estate removed after several years, and brought witnesses to swear as to her competency in managing her own affairs. She took the witness stand herself and described in detail various visits she had made to a son and a daughter, giving minute details of their home life and of gifts she had made to their children.

On the prima facie case, the committee was removed, made an accounting of the money and property in his hands and the property was restored to the old lady.

About a month later, Judge Betts asked the solitary reporter who had been present whether he recalled the case and the testimony. The reporter remembered.

"Well," said Judge Betts, "the woman's son and daughter have been dead for fifteen years and they never had any children; she only imagined the entire story she told on the witness stand, and is spending her money riotously. An application has been made to determine her competency by three commissioners and a sheriff's jury, and as evidence of her incompetence, your testimony will be valuable; since the matter comes before me, I don't want to take the stand myself, and there is no one else who heard it except the woman's lawyer."

To the newspaper reporter, Judge Betts's special terms were a constant source of pleasure.

Entertaining Is Never a Bother

Gay chatter over the luncheon table — the feminine babble at cards — a few friends in for dinner — no matter how informal the event, every hostess wants something special for guests. But do "guests" mean fuss and bother in your household? Do you dread the thought of having to prepare even the simplest of foods because it entails wearisome work in the kitchen?

Tempting salads kept crisp and cool for hours — ice cubes for sparkling drinks — an unusual variety of frozen desserts, quickly prepared and automatically chilled in the freezing trays — these are some of the facilities which Frigidaire brings to the modern home. And all the refrigeration needs of daily life are also assured.

Says New Blood Treatment Will Drive Rheumatism Agony From the Land

Name Is Alkine and Local Druggist Urges Every Sufferer to Try It On Money-Back Plan.

Here's good news for rheumatic sufferers! McBride's Drug Stores have been able to obtain for the first time in Kingston a supply of the remarkable new blood treatment Alkine, which is amazing medical authorities by the astounding way it puts a quick end to the terrible torture and awful pain of this dread affliction.

"Never," says Mr. McBride, "in my experience as a druggist have I seen anything produce the results that Alkine does. Chronic sufferers of rheumatism who have tried everything under the sun to get relief without succeeding tell me they bless the day they put their faith in Alkine. One man, a veteran of the World War, who has been in constant torment from rheumatism pains for over 10 years, cleared out every twinge and ache by only using three bottles of Alkine. It was called next to a miracle. Another of my customers, a woman, who has been living in dread that she would become crippled for life, is as lively as a cricket today with every bit of pain gone—all due to Alkine. After seeing these results with my own eyes and hearing of countless numbers more I'll never be satisfied until every sufferer of rheumatic agony tries Alkine—and I'll personally guarantee to return your money if you don't say it's the finest remedy yet."

Unlike salves and liniments—unlike stomach remedies that merely pass through the system, Alkine is taken up by the blood and forces out of it the dangerous acids and poisons that are the actual cause of rheumatic torture—that's the secret of Alkine's success. Almost from the very first day you should realize that when Alkine gets into the blood rheumatism pain must get out—and it matters not how long standing or stubborn your case may be, you can always be sure Alkine will quickly end your suffering or money back.

Get Alkine at McBride's (5) Drug Stores.

Wall Street Boom Tangles Accounts

Deals Made in February Not Yet Completed by Delivery of Securities—Checks Outstanding in the Confusion and Checks are Overworked.

New York, May 6.—The boom in the New York stock market has tangled the accounts of the clearing houses, and the clearing houses are overworked.

Traders say that small lot deals made as far back as February have not yet been completed by delivery of securities. They remain outstanding in the strong boxes of the clearing houses who are trying to clear the books first. They represent an added worry for harassed dealers, who point out that failure to deliver might create a situation far more serious than even the present business tangle.

Commission houses have been rushed with the enormous volume of trading and the accompanying mass of clerical work that they cannot handle. They have been unable to keep accounts up to date or to give proper attention to balances. One result has been that normally efficient methods of business procedure have become so ridiculously inefficient.

Beauty and Brains
Dr. Frederick E. Cabot of Boston, chief justice of the Boston juvenile court, says that most good-looking people are feeble-minded. Comments on the Terre Haute Tribune. Judge Cabot is noted as an expert in sociology and jurisprudence. The Boston juvenile court is a leader in methods of combating juvenile crime, and many of its methods are worked out by Judge Cabot. It is the practice in the court to have a mental and physical examination of all juvenile defendants. "We do this," says Judge Cabot, "to get all the facts in any given case, not that we believe people commit crimes because they are feeble-minded. On the contrary, feeble-minded people are likely to be much more steady and reliable than their brilliant brethren. They do not have volatile minds and are not shoved aside easily, as a result of which they usually are found to be building down steady jobs. Not only that, but they are pleasant-looking, because their less ruffled existence does not leave as many exterior traces. I do not know of a better test. Any really nice-looking person probably is feeble-minded." What consolation for the ordinary run of homely humanity! But there still is balm for the beautiful. Judge Cabot says that the steadiness and persistency which is likely to accompany lack of brilliance is a valuable possession in the business world.

Helen H. Gardner, noted feminist leader, who died in 1925, won a post-mortem reward for her insistence that women's brains in the same class as men's, when an examination of her cranial structure at Cornell, to which she willed her brain, proved that it was not excelled by any of the Cornell collection. No one disputes the correctness of her contention; but, since the proof of a mind is in its performance, the world will suspend judgment on the Cornell experiment until the consummation of Professor Cazzanini's prediction. He told the Congress for Psychic Research, assembled in Italy, that it soon will be possible to photograph human thought in the process of conception.

Japan has never been looked upon as the home of multimillionaires, but the 1927 tax returns show that there are men in that country who come under that classification. The richest man in Japan, it is reported, is Baron Hisayuki Iwasaki, who has an annual income amounting to $2,154,000 in gold and who pays a tax of $465,000. Baron Okura, who comes tenth on the list, rejoices in $317,000 income and makes no protest against paying a $119,000 tax. In Tokyo and Yokohama alone there are 738 persons who report personal incomes exceeding $25,000.

A beggar held in the night court of New York was bailed out by his wife, who drove up in a limousine, attended by a chauffeur. It was then discovered that he and his wife were living in a suite of rooms in an uptown hotel. That would make a beggar of almost anyone.

In Egypt they have exhumed the tomb of King Zoser, who flourished about 4000 B. C. The public will be glad that Zoser wasn't a queen—we are getting so tired of stories about how they used lipsticks and compacts before the flood.

"Now," says a London dispatch, "a phonograph can 'read aloud' to you a full-length novel. If you wish. Or it can give you an entire congressional debate." The first sentence is interesting: why spoil it by adding the second?

Most Jurors Ask To Be Excused
Of 23 Present 23 are Excused and Judge Smith Orders the Summoning of 25 Talents—Attempt to Be Made to Clear the Calendar of Antiques.
The May term of the supreme court convened Monday afternoon at the court house with Judge George H. Smith presiding. This is Judge Smith's first trial term of court in this country since his appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Judge Roach. Of the panel of 24 grand jurors 23 answered present and only one was excused. Coroner George Sutter of Marlborough asked to be excused from service and his request was granted. Matthew T. E. DeWitt of Hurley was appointed foreman of the grand jury and Charles F. Crawford of Marlborough assistant foreman.

On the call of the trial jurors 33 of the panel answered present but on the call for excuses practically every juror responded and requested relief from service. In all 22 jurors were excused by the court, leaving but 13 names of the original panel in the box. Judge Smith issued an order summoning 25 talesmen to serve and Sheriff Rice was requested to get the talesman immediately.

The day calendar of ready causes made up by County Clerk Geroldsek last week on the call of the calendar went to pieces when Nos. 265 and 267 were moved over until Thursday by F. W. Brooks, who presented a letter stating that he must be in the appellate division to day to argue a case. This fact he did not know when the cases were moved on the calendar last week. The two cases remained on the day calendar with the understanding that they would not be moved before Thursday.

No. 154, J. W. Palen's Sons against Nelson & Caulkins, Inc., and others, an action on bond, was set down for May 19 at Monticello before Judge Smith. The action grows out of a contract on the school building at New Rochelle. There were several defendants in the action but all have settled but two. William D. Cunningham appears for plaintiff and Alfred Ekelman for defendants.

A divorce action brought by Ada H. T. E. Houghtaling against Thomas D. Houghtaling, was also set down for trial by the court Friday morning, May 11. Brinnier, Canfield & Elsworth for plaintiff and A. J. Cook for defendant.

An action, Raffello Filocco against Salvatore DiVita and Antonio Spataro, was added to the calendar of causes on motion of John W. Eckert, who appeared for defendant DiVita. A. W. St. Bernard Mixed Breed
If tradition may be accepted as authentic, the St. Bernard dog is a product of the Alpine section of Switzerland. There, about 600 years ago, the monks of the Hospice of St. Bernard are said to have created the original type from the cross of a mastiff dog of the Pyrenees with a Danish bulldog bitch. Later it became necessary to outcross with the Newfoundland and the Pyrenean sheep dog in order to refill the hospice kennels, which had been practically destroyed through the ravages of distemper and accident. Credit is likewise given the English mastiff and the bloodhound, used in bringing the St. Bernard to its present stage of development. The outcome of this heterogeneous mixing of the blood of various breeds has been the production of a very extraordinary dog, an animal in which size, strength, bravery, loyalty and devotion are traditional characteristics.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By the Associated Press.)

Pete Ruth, who cracked out three home runs last season to withstand the spirited challenge of his youthful teammate, Lou Gehrig, must glance among the National League sluggers to discover his chief early season rival of 1935.

Left Bissone, first baseman of the Brooklyn Robins, hit for the circuit at St. Louis yesterday for the sixth time this year, placing him in a tie with the Bambino for joint major league leadership. Bissone came to the Robins this year from the International League, where he compiled an imposing extra-base hit record.

Del's homer was not enough, however, to prevent the Robins from bowing, 5 to 5, to the Cardinals in a hectic game. Errors by both clubs figured largely in the scoring up to the ninth inning when a walk to Douthitt and singles by High and Frisch gave the Cards one run and victory. During the day Bill McKechnie, pilot of the Cardinals, received word of his three-day suspension for abusive language to Umpire Charley Phelan at St. Louis on Sunday.

Brooklyn's defeat enabled the fast stepping Pittsburgh Pirates to climb into a tie for third place with the Robins, by virtue of their third straight victory over the Boston

Braves at Forbes Field, 9 to 4. After a shaky performance for four innings, Johnny Mize settled down and permitted only three runs in the fifth. Four of the Pirates' extra-innings went to Paul Waner and George Grantham, three being for extra bases.

The New York Giants gained an even break by winning the last game of the series at Cincinnati, 5 to 1. Larry Barton allowed ten hits but was extremely effective with men on the bases. Carl Mays was pounded for three runs in the third inning and the last two Giant tallies, unearned, came in the next frame.

The Cubs made a clean sweep of the three-game series with the Phillies by taking the final battle, 7 to 4, at Chicago. Bush struck out nine Phils. A homer by Stephenson and three errors by Freso Thompson were a big aid to the Cubs' run-making activities. Webb was in Cyler's customary place in right field.

"Lefty" Grove's fast ball sent nine men down on strikes as the Athletics crushed the Detroit Tigers at Philadelphia, 16 to 0, for the third consecutive day. Eight successive hits in the second inning gave the Athletics seven runs.

At New York, the Yankees by a score of 8 to 5 made it four in a row over the Chicago White Sox. The Sox knocked Stanley out of the box in the seventh inning but could do little with George Piggas. Meusel and Robertson hit for the circuit for the Yankees and Barrett for the second day in succession—for the Sox.

The Cleveland Indians lunched hits off Harris in two innings to beat the Red Sox at Boston, 4 to 2. Bill Carrigan's crew outbit the invaders but Miller was strong in the pincches. Three Washington pitchers could not stop a terrific offensive by the St. Louis Browns who overwhelmed the Senators, 15 to 2, at the National Capital. The Browns made 17 hits, Manush getting four of them. Stewart gave the Senators six hits, one of them a homer by Van Alstyne, Washington pitcher.

Apollos Take Opening Game From West Shore

Industrial League Opened Monday Night, Apollos Winning Game, 5-1—Merritt and Williams Pitched Good Ball.

Before a fair size crowd who braved the cold weather the Industrial Baseball League was auspiciously opened Monday evening at the Athletic Field. The West Shore Railroad team, champions of 1934, got off to a bad start, bowing to the Apollo Club, 5-1, in a fast game, considering the weather.

Jimmy Merritt, Apollo's pitcher, held the Railroaders in check except for one inning, the fifth, when they reached him for five hits and four runs. He weathered the storm, however, and came back for a strong finish, striking out the entire side in the last inning. He struck out nine batters during the game.

Ralph Williams opposed Merritt on the mound and also had a good night, but his support was not of the best. He walked four men and allowed but four hits.

Two unearned runs were scored by the Apollos in the first inning. Kearney dropped Merritt's fly and Glaser walked. Merritt reached third base on Rider's error. Glaser stole second and on a sacrifice by Merritt and Glaser both scored when nobody was at home to take Snyder's throw. Hyatt scored the Apollos' third run in the second, doubling to right field and crossed the rubber on T. McGuire's error.

Ralph Williams started the Railroaders off in the fifth inning, working Merritt for a free pass, which seemed to upset him. Bush followed with a two-base blow. R. McGuire singled. Bruck hit another double and Rider hit a long triple to left field, four runs resulting. In their half of the fifth the Apollos clinched the game, scoring twice on three walks and a single.

The Apollos made a neat appearance in their new uniforms of grey and black.

Glaser started at field for the Apollos, digging them out of the dirt and going in the air for them.

Wednesday evening the P. O.-City and Hercules, a new entry, will take the field.

Golden Gate Amities

To a certain San Francisco newspaper's assertion, in alleged verse, that "this paper's large and quite enough for any person's need," the Argonaut of that city retorts: "It is quite enough for wrapping an old pair of shoes, or for a few books, or even, perhaps, for the laundry; but suppose it is needed for all three purposes on the same day."

Noted Early American

"Nollucky Jack" was the nickname which was given to John Seater, famous American pioneer and Indian fighter, who founded the town of New Market.

Boxers' Quality Attracting Fans

Thanks for the American League's boxing bouts to the fans of the sport who have been flocking to the 1935 season, the American League has announced that it will have a series of boxing bouts in its stadiums during the season. The first of these bouts is scheduled for Friday night, May 10, at the Polo Grounds, New York. The bout will be between Willie Herman, of the 102nd Medical Regiment, New York City, and a local fighter named "Red" Moshier. Moshier is a local fighter who has been in the sport for some time and is considered one of the best in the area. Herman is a professional fighter who has been in the sport for some time and is considered one of the best in the area. The bout is expected to be a close one and will attract a large crowd of fans.

Willie Herman is of the 102nd Medical Regiment, New York City, and has appeared in many armory bouts, which he has taken with little trouble. His latest victory was a technical kayo over Mickey McVeigh in the sixth round of a scheduled eight-stanza set to at the Newburgh armory last Friday night. Herman is not a fast worker but watches his chances to drive smashing right and lefts to the body of his opponent. He is a short-range artist and delights in close quarters. It was by this method that he defeated McVeigh and will likely use the same tactics on Moshier Friday night.

BASEBALL NOTES

St. Louis Nationals have finished last eight times—1885, 1897, 1908, 1909, 1907, 1908, 1913 and 1915.

Fifty-five bases were made off William C. Rhodes, Louisville, Ky., by the Cincinnati Nationals, July 18, 1893.

Shortstop Ralph Miller has been purchased by Little Rock of the Southern league from Indianapolis.

Fort Worth has sent help to Eddie Palmer at Monroe in the form of pitcher Rufus Meadows and infielder Tom Clancy.

Ollie Fuhrman, veteran catcher of the Peoria Tractors of the Three-I league, has been traded to Bloomington for infielder Tanner.

Frank Ulrich, leading pitcher of the Phillies who just recently recovered from an attack of pneumonia, will not be able to hurl until May, or possibly June.

No sooner had Houston gotten Tommy Taylor back from Washington than a deal was arranged with the San Antonio Beas which sent the player on to Santone.

Urban Shocker, aged thirty-five, the veteran pitcher of the New York Yankees, who recently announced his retirement from baseball, plans to enter an aviation school.

Mel Silva, one of the few Portuguese players in organized baseball, has retired from the game and entered business in Reading. He was with Rochester last season.

Harold (Bully) Erlich, who formerly pitched for Reading in the International league, has deserted the diamond for the ring and is boxing as a heavyweight in the East.

After watching Andy Cohen in an exhibition game this season, Eddie Collins announced Cohen would make the Giants a very valuable man even if he didn't hit more than his weight.

Waseda university, in Tokyo, built the first steel and concrete grandstand in Japan. Although it seats 20,000, it often is unable to accommodate the crowd at some of the important ball games.

Pitchers Eddie Clough and Johnny Stuart, who have been rather balky members of the St. Louis Cardinal stable, have been reinstated from the suspended list. They are carried on the roster of the Topeka club.

To love, satisfies one-half of our nature—to be loved, satisfies the other half.

IN SYRIA

A Syrian Rebecca Returning From the Well.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)
The strip of Syria and the Holy Land at the eastern end of the Mediterranean sea has ever been a stage for momentous world events. There the civilizations of Egypt, Mesopotamia and Asia Minor met, their armies marching and coun-termarching.

A few miles north of Beirut, at the point where the Dog river enters the sea,
the foothills of the Lebanon come down to the very shore of the Mediterranean, and since soldiers and armies have always sought to travel
on the level, whether they have fought that way or not, the passage of this point where sea and mountain meet was always a difficult feat.

One army after another cut its path along the towering cliffs, and when the passage of this narrow defile was thus insured, the commanders left the record of their passing. Who the first men were no one knows, for the troops of Napoleon III, in passing this point, were too lazy to turn over a new leaf; they simply inscribed their record on a limestone page from which the record of some ancient Egyptian had been erased by the hand of time.

But the first record that still stands was left by the armies of the most famous of the pharaohs, Rameses the Great, when they were on their way northward to wage war against the Khetas or Hittites.

The great Assyrian, Ashurnasirpal, left his record here and his successors, Shalmaneser and Adadnirari, did the same. Then there was a lapse of more than a century, from 812 to 705
B. C., when Sennacherib and his son, Esarhaddon, had their names chiseled
in this stone book of history.

Railways on Old Caravan Routes.
If political conditions become definitely stabilized in this part of the world, it is not too much to believe that heavy trains, fired with oil from the Persian fields, will thunder along trade routes which plodding camels marked out when the world was young. Already, one may dine in Cairo and have luncheon the following day in Jerusalem. The step to Aleppo, Mosul, and Bagdad is short and all but 300 miles of the line is now open to traffic. However popular the route through central Europe along the famous Berlin-Bagdad line becomes,
the safety of the British empire demands that the railroad which follows the old line of communication between the valley of the Nile and the valleys of the Euphrates and the Tigris shall be kept in a state of perfection. There will be no Amanus or Taurus tunnels on this trail of the modern caravan, and an absence of heavy grades throughout a large part of the right of way will make it possible for the hoped-for Cairo-to-Calcutta express to beat the fastest sea route by several days.

The Hauran, south of Damascus,
has long been a granary and the massive ruins of Baalbek dominate a plain whose fertility was once sufficient to make possible lavish local expeditions and at the same time
return large taxes to imperial Rome,
which used Syria not as a sinking place for public funds, but as a source of revenue for the treasury on the Tiber. When Rome ruled, this remote province had enough and to spare;
but not for long did golden eggs from Syria enrich the greedy Turk.

Water holds a high place, not only in the view of the aboriginal Mohammedan, but of the Syrian Christian as well. The main attraction of the Damascus cafe is a tiny fountain, whose sight and sound delight the son of the desert vacationing in the urban oasis,
or the Sarti of Samarkand, wearied
by his desert march to Mecca, who stops here and dreams of his distant Zerzishan.

From Abraham to Allenby.
Dan and Beersheba are popularly considered the termini of Palestine, as they formerly were of Hebrew territory. One grew up around a source of the Jordan, the other owed its existence to the age-old wells whose limestone rims have been grooved and polished by a million bucket ropes. No hotel register attests so long and distinguished a line of guests.

From Abraham to Allenby, the rope-
way signatures that rim Beersheba's seven wells bespeak romance and passions bound as human life. Here Abraham arrived with Sarah, his wife, and being denied to town ways and fearing them, they registered as brother and sister. Later Sarah induced Abraham to drive Hagar and Ishmael out into the desert to die. Evidently cross-roads. Life did not improve Sarah's character.
Here Abraham, the father of his race, received a message to kill his only son, Isaac, and from this spot he set out with heavy heart to accomplish the task which he was saved from completing. Here Jacob robbed Esau of his birthright by methods that remind one of Launcelot Gobbo, and here he later stopped when, as an old man, he was on his way to visit his famous son, Joseph, in Egypt.

A single spring determined the site of Nazareth, and Jacob's well still provides water in an otherwise thirsty land. To the tired traveler from the hills of Moab, the dirty Jordan seems a blessed refreshment after the dry ride; but Naaman, the leper, because he was accustomed to the crystal streams of his native city, scorned the coffee-colored flood which had been recommended to him as a cleansing agent.

Water bounds Syria on the west.
The lack of it defines the eastern and southern boundaries. Many of the most pleasing pages of the Bible ripple with the songs of running brooks or praise the "still waters" of wells which have long marked the resting places of weary flocks and heavy-laden caravans.

In Lebanon there are scores of springs and rivers gushing forth direct from the rock. The whole countryside facing the Mediterranean suggests the passage of a miracle-working Moses, practicing in these glorious dells the more difficult feat he was to perform in parched Sinai.

Even on the hot plain between Mount Hermon and the Lake of Huleh
the water which bubbles up from subterranean sources is very cold. At Shiba, high up on the sides of Mount Hermon, the water emerges from the rock with a temperature of 38 degrees Fahrenheit, and at Banias, where a temple to Pan once stood, and where Herod the Great erected a temple
over the spring in honor of Augustus,
the sparkling water has a temperature of 42 degrees. In summer, after a long hot walk across the plain, it is most refreshing to sit in the shade of Honey valley and eat luscious Lebanon grapes, cooled by dipping them in the living water of the stream.

Bathing in the Dead Sea.
The Jericho region is supplied with three kinds of water, and this prodigality, coupled with the historic fame of the Jordan valley, has furnished a regular formula of bathing for pilgrims to this hot depression, nearly a quarter of a mile below the level of the sea.

Of course, every tourist has to bathe
in the Dead sea; it is the thing to do.
Lucky is the man whose skin does not crack in the heat of the valley, for Dead sea water on a cracked skin or the film of the eye reminds one of boiling oil and the Spanish inquisition.
Having performed the necessary rite
and dutifully completed an experience which can be recorded in the diary of the trip, the poor pilgrim, lured with a tenacious fluid that seems to be composed of salt, kerosene, and lye, dives off to the Jordan and seeks relief in the muddy waters of that river. Then, as night rapidly settles in the deepest wrinkle on the face of Mother Earth,
the tired traveler rides between the miserable hovels which constitute modern Jericho and dismounts at the Sultan's spring, once sweetened by Elisba.

The traveler who is wise will not try to sleep in the hot hotel, whose confining walls seem to radiate discomfort, but will stretch his bed beside the still waters of Sultan's pool.

Water or the lack of it must always affect the development of Syria, but the supreme value of the land as a link between the production centers of Europe and the population centers of Asia must always make trade routes
and cross-roads of traffic the locations
for largest growth.

No amount of commercial travel,
however, can cloud the importance of the heights where Judaism rose and declined and where Christ lived,
taught, healed, and died.

Literary Touch

Possibly it was the first breath of spring in the air that sent a certain unknown author skipping into the offices of Simple & Simons, book publishers.

"How long should a novel be?"
asked the (bro of the first man he saw. It happened to be Mr. Simple.

"There is no statutory limit," answered the latter.

But the would-be author pressed him for some suggestion, and the publisher finally admitted that most standard novels were about eighty thousand words long.

"Thank heaven," declared the other. "I've finished, then."

EDUCATION

THERE will be spent this year in this country for public instruction
in grade schools and high schools about one-half billion dollars. The higher education of our country in colleges and universities will demand
nearly one-third of another billion.
A very large sum supplied for the larger part by taxation. This system of providing the cost of education makes it possible for every child to have at least the advantages of an elementary education. Education is a basic necessity for success in any line of work. It is a condition upon which even the procurement of some positions depend. The purpose of education, for which we pay our cold cash in taxes, is not only to provide knowledge for earning a living but the knowledge of "how to live" while that money is being earned, and especially after we may have accumulated our portion. Taxes levied and paid for this altruistic purpose could in no other way be more wisely spent.

Education is power. The man who works with his mind usually controls
the man who works with his hands.
Knowledge is one of the keys to power
in both the scientific and economic world.

The acquisition of power is a most worthy aim. The prostitution of power to a selfish end is a monstrous crime. It is not the power we possess, but the use of the power which determines the value of one's life
to the community.

When power is used for the backward trend of the social order it means disintegration and anarchy.
When it is used for the forward
trend it means stability and progress.

How It Started

ORIGIN OF THE CAB

IT HAS been said that the taxicab, once indulged in as a luxurious form of conveyance, has come now to be regarded by almost all classes as quite the proper way to get from one place to another. And it is a fact that the taxi has become so common that one can hardly conceive of a time when there was no such accommodation. That time, however, was not very long ago and in tracing back for the origin of the public cab we find an interesting circumstance.

The taxi, of course, is simply the motor applied to the horse-drawn cab, whose original name and that by which it is still known all over Europe is the "fiacre." And here we find the strange and colorful circumstance of a public cab named after a saint—the French martyr, St. Fiacre. It came about in this way:

St. Fiacre was the patron saint of gardeners and the owner of a hotel
in the Rue Saint-Martin in Paris which had a statue of the saint over the door called his place the "Hotel de Saint Fiacre." An enterprising fellow, this hotel keeper was the first to introduce, in the year 1649, public vehicles which his guests could hire on leaving his hostelry. Obtainable now-where else, the cabs came to be called "fiacres" and the name has survived to this day. Its modern improvement, the "taxi," is so-called from the taxi meter which records the charges
for the distance run.

"Why did Sally break her engagement with Jack?" "She tried to cut

a few months out of law school or college.

Occasionally these young men make mistakes which a lawyer of greater experience would not make. One of them did, in fact, do just this at the trial of a famous lawbreaker.

After the trial was over I asked the government attorney why he did not employ older men.

He said: "The government gives me only a few thousand dollars for each of my subordinates. Consequently I can pay them only very small salaries."

"For such a small amount I can get older men who have not been successful attorneys and who are willing to work for little pay."

"Or I can get youngsters who are just breaking into the game. Twenty years from now these same youngsters will be commanding the top salaries
in the legal profession."

"Shall I get the other, experienced,
mediocre lawyer or the younger,
greener man?"

"I have always preferred the younger."

It has often been said that nothing takes the place of experience. Like most maxims it is subject to several qualifications.

A green man will undoubtedly make mistakes which, with more experience, he would avoid. But when it comes to a contest between experience and mediocrity on the one side and greenness and intelligence on the other I'll back the latter.

The very fact that a man has shown little promise before arriving at forty or fifty makes it probable that he will never do anything outstanding. Whereas a young, promising fellow, green
as he may be, has always possibilities.

No man, of course, likes to make his business a training school for smart youngsters. But no smart employer likes to fill his office with mediocre assistants, either.

It usually costs real money to employ brains plus experience.

Intelligent youngsters make mistakes. But they can usually more than hold their own with middle-aged mediocrity.

Britain Orders Carol to Leave
Former Crown Prince on Whose Behalf Revolution Threatens in Rumania, May be Wished Off on the United States.

London, May 9 (AP).—The British government today ordered former Crown Prince Carol of Rumania to leave the country. Recent Carolist activities had become too embarrassing, the government decided. Carol intimated that he might go to America. He admitted that a manifesto had been printed in London saying he awaited only a call from Rumania to return to assume the throne in place of his six-year-old son, King Michael.

Copies of this manifesto, he said, had been sent to America some time ago and were ordered distributed on Saturday. "I have had no financial assistance from America," Carol said. "But I have strong support there. It is possible that if my plans fail I shall visit America."

The manifesto was to have been distributed throughout Rumania by airplane, but the British government learning of this plan prevented the planes from leaving England. Police were on guard today at the Surrey estate where Carol is staying and the morning papers said that the government's decision, which was in effect an order of expulsion, had been communicated to Carol shortly after midnight by three Scotland Yard officers.

The request that Carol leave was in accordance with the usual procedure when a foreigner used English territory as the center for intrigues against a friendly government. Shortly after midnight, when Carol's party returned from a theatre, three Scotland Yard officers told him of the British decision. Carol expressed great surprise and remarked that he was confident the British government would never have done such a thing on its own account but must have been actuated by Rumanian intrigue.

Earlier in the day Carol explained that his denunciation of the crown and exile were forced upon him "under duress of domestic afflictions". His marriage was unhappy, he said, and he wanted to divorce Princess Helen but his father, the late King Ferdinand, was a strict

An instrument has been developed that is so keen and accurate that it will split a hair into 50 equal parts. The machine is known as the microtome and is used principally by scientists in the preparations of specimens for microscopic examination. It is so accurate that it will cut slices one twenty-thousandth of an inch. These slices will be absolutely accurate. In using the microtome it is often necessary to freeze or otherwise solidify the material to be cut. In other cases it is necessary to keep a flow of alcohol running over the knife to prevent particles of material from adhering to the blade.

LUCKY THIRTEEN MAKE FORTUNES

Violate Superstition and Win Great Wealth in Oil Field.

Superstition, which the Sun-Kingdom Oil Field in Montana, which has been proven to extend over the Canadian border into Alberta, has become a world-famous producer of oil and gas, a story of romance and fortune.

But the company of 13 who violated every law of superstition, which should have doomed them to failure, have become the winners of vast fortunes.

The original Kallispell-Kevin Oil company had 13 members. Assuming that their company was to tear down tradition and become one of the world's most startling financial successes, they arranged to form their company of 13 members on Friday the 13th, and forthwith rented a post-office box No. 13 to carry out the number 13 as far as possible.

The Organizers.

The founders of the company were mostly entirely unfamiliar with the oil business, which they formed in 1921. Geo. J. E. Erickson of Helena, Mont.; C. L. Emmos, George F. Standard, James K. Lang, J. M. Carlson, F. O. Williams, Miss Alsea Gray, Dr. D. F. Vossburgh, Theodore Torbenson, Lee Kerr, and Dr. J. C. Boyd, all of Kallispell, Mont.; A. J. Lowery of Polson, Mont., and Ralph Arnold, a famous geologist of Los Angeles, composed the group. Each member of the 13 original investors bought $500 worth of units, at $250 per unit, thus each received 200 units. Since that time the units have increased in value until they are worth $1,500 or more on the open market today, or $300,000 for an original investment of $500.

The company has over 100 producing oil wells and several good gas wells, and has room on its acreage for about 300 more oil wells.

Shortly after the company was formed some of the members of the firm bought used cars and gave units in exchange for them in order to have means of conveyance about their scattered acreage in the oil field.

Figuring the present approximate valuation of $1,500 per unit, exchanged for the cars, makes them the highest priced cars in the world's history for common cars.

C. L. Emmos, probably owned the highest priced Ford car in existence during the early days of the Kallispell-Kevin company. Being president of the new company, Mr. Emmos felt that he needed some sort of car to get around, and spent considerable time in looking about for some one with a propensity to take a chance on the oil stock who would turn over his car for units. Finally a man was found who would turn over his car and accept 10 units and take a chance, as he said, a "thousand-to-one chance." It was a Ford and today the valuation of the units traded for it are worth $15,000.

Trade Units for Cars.

Others of the company managed to dicker away some of their units for other makes of cars. Lee Kerr traded 20 units for a Buick, which are worth $30,000 today, while A. R. Johnson traded 10 of his units for a car of the same make.

Governor Erickson came in for a high-priced car also. He bought a Willys-Knight, and the units of oil stock he paid for it were later valued at $10,000.

Although each of the 13 original members of the Kallispell-Kevin company have retained the majority of their stock and their dividends run into princely sums, the ones who traded units for cars originally believed that they had made great deals and that they had received more than the units were really worth then.

The Kallispell-Kevin company founders later were styled in the field as "The Lucky Thirteen" and have prospered from the first. Their first dividend was rather spectacular, being 5 per cent monthly, and continued until 1925, when it was increased to a 10 per cent monthly dividend, and after the pipe line service was enlarged to care for the company's oil the dividends were changed to 20 per cent monthly. To date a vast fortune has been paid in dividends, with the prospect of it continuing for years to come for the lucky 13 unit holders who own some of the most expensive but battered relics in the history of the automobile.

FEMALE HEARTS FLUTTERING ON EYE OF FIRST ROYAL COURT.

London, May 8 AP. Hundreds of female hearts were fluttering with excitement today as the last touches were being put upon plans to be worn at the first royal court of the season tonight.

King George and Queen Mary will hold court at Buckingham Palace. The palace will be aglow with lights and the throne room will be filled with the silks and satins and jewels of the women and the gorgeous uniforms and glittering decorations of the men.

Court dress-makers have been busy for weeks designing and executing gowns ordered by those invited for the occasion, most of the guests being from the official and diplomatic circles.

White gowns were largely favored by the debutantes, but colors, especially light green and other pale hues, also were chosen. Bandeaux with plumes and veils in the style of 1830 will be worn by many of the debutantes. One advantage of this style is that it suits both bobbed hair and long hair. Ornaments surrounded with silver lace will form the bouquets of many guests.

Thousands of women and not a few men will gather early in the streets leading to the palace to watch the arrivals. This is one of the great sights of the London season. The guests of the court while sitting in their carriages awaiting admission have to endure a running fire of comment from envious onlookers.

Americans to be presented include the Misses Elizabeth Houghton, daughter of the American Ambassador of Corning, N. Y., and Ruth Pruyn, Albany, N. Y.

More Than Fur Deep

Mary Katherine had a little alloy cut on which she lavished all her young affections, and when it was lost she refused to be comforted. Grandma bought her a beautiful Angora kitten, but Mary Katherine was still loyal to the loved and lost.

"See, dear," grandma said one day, stroking the thick yellow fur, "isn't this one much prettier than the other little kitty?"

Mary Katherine gulped and her brown eyes filled.

"But, grandma," she quavered, "it's the inside of a cat that counts!"—Kansas City Star.

Mightier Than the Purse

How a California newspaper man's pen became as mighty as a well-filled purse is told by V. C. of Hayward, Calif. Scouring the town for stories, the reporter came upon a poverty-stricken little family occupying two rooms, with no beds and very little of anything else. The children slept huddled on the floor. Into his column next day went a faithful and graphic description. The following day he spent the later hours declining furniture, bedding, clothing and food for the family, for the proffered supply soon exceeded the immediate needs.

Watch Your Weight

The best index of good health, says the Kansas City Times, is the weight. Mothers know this and weigh their babies regularly in order to be sure that they are well. People who are ill usually lose weight. But it is not healthful to be overweight. Fat people are less resistant to disease. To be too fat results in strain upon the heart. Watch your weight; keep it near the average for your age and height and you will have good health.

News From the World on Wheels

Probably no development of the last five years has created so profound a stir in the automobile industry as current announcements that the new DeSoto Six, which will be presented to the public within the next three months, is to be built by Walter P. Chrysler and his associates.

While the DeSoto Six is yet to be announced to the public, reports inspired by a few brief communications to motor car dealers have aroused nationwide comment. The significant feature, of course, is that Walter P. Chrysler, whose production of four lines of cars bearing his own name has made him one of the outstanding figures of the industry, also sponsors and builds the new DeSoto Six.

April production of Willys-Knight and Whippet fours and sixes topped the highest month in the history of Willys-Overland with a total production of 35,509 cars. This represents nearly 50 per cent of total production for the three preceding months, officials of the company declared this week in Toledo.

More automobiles were built and sold last month by the Elizabeth, N. J., plant of Durant Motors, Inc., than in any previous month in the history of the company—11,012—an increase over March of more than 12 per cent, which in turn exceeded all former records by 20 per cent. This additional production represents an average increase of 54 cars more per day than in March. The total number of Durant cars built in the last two months is 20,673, an increase over any two previous consecutive months of 45.5 per cent, or 126 cars per day.

Graham-Paige production for 1928 passed 21,851, the total for the entire year of 1927, on May 2. The new line of cars sponsored by the three Graham brothers has, in its first four months, not only equaled last year's total production of the former models but has broken almost every record for production and shipping in the 18 years' history of the factory. April alone set new all-time records for monthly and weekly production peaks and for a single day's shipments. The April total was 3,275 units.

The Oakland Motor Car Company is two and one-half months ahead of its 1927 production. It is announced by factory officials. The end of April marked the fourth consecutive month of record production which brought the company's total for this year to 100,094 Oakland and Pontiac Sixes, a figure which in 1927 was not attained until the middle of July. The 1928 four-month total of 100,094 cars is an increase of 33 per cent over the 74,653 cars which the company built during the first four months of last year.

The Way to Wealth

The way to wealth is as plain as the way to market. It depends chiefly on two words, industry and frugality; that is, waste neither time nor money, but make the best use of both. Without industry and frugality nothing will do, and with them every thing.—Benjamin Franklin.

For Mother's Day ... a real remembrance

It must be something good, and beautiful, and useful, to be worthy of Mother. And to be in keeping with the spirit of Mother's Day, it should be something lasting too—a real remembrance. Sterling silver fulfills all these requirements.

Lovely serving pieces in famous sterling patterns cost but a trifle. Within a price range of $2.00 to $10.00, for instance, there are gifts like cold meat forks, jelly servers, salted nut spoons, steak sets. And of course, there are dozens of more elaborate suggestions. Let us show them to you!

Then, when Mother opens one of our charming Mother's Day gift boxes, and the soft gleam of the imperishable beauty within is reflected in the brightness of her smile, you'll realize that this Mother's Day you chose more wisely than ever before.
